

Renee's Studio

Description: My mom is a superb ceramic artist and wanted to showcase her artwork in a way that would reach many people. I offered my website building skills and created a website called "Renee's Studio." This website states Renee's personal information and many of her beautiful ceramic pieces available for sale. I used www.yola.com to create the website and taught her how to navigate and update the website on her own. I also offer assistance if she needs it.

Impact: By creating this website, I was able to help her reach new clients and showcase her ceramic pieces. She was extremely excited and proud of this website and found herself constantly updating it and checking for emails from possible customers.

Intent: After creating this website, I realize how easy it is to create websites to showcase work, creations, or employment. I intend to continue making websites such as these for people wanting to reach more clients and showcase their work.
